By the same token it is not necessary for us to wear solemnly reiterate the word "bargains" — yet we have them constantly in patterns which, for various reasons, will not come again, though the wearing quality of our goods is in no way below par.

Intelligent customers, who make careful comparisons, will find that where quality and style are considered, our prices are the lowest in Boston.

And what is a carpet worth, pray, that does not possess style and quality?

There, there is our guarantee — it ought to be worth something to a customer.

THE UNEMPLOYED.

HENRY H. FAXON.

The most perplexing problem receiving public attention at this time is how to deal with the unemployed. Many of those who are now making the greatest clamor for assistance can be recognized as the men who, in prosperous seasons, spend much of their earnings in the saloons, where anarchists, so-called socialists, certain labor reformers and all the other political devils assemble to denounce and malign every man who seeks to gain an honest living and does not countenance their un-American ideas. The families of such agitators would have suffered untold privations but for the liberality of the much-abused capitalists who have made good use of their opportunities, and saved their money instead of squandering it in dram-shops and like resorts.

It is disagreeable and discouraging to the charitably inclined people of this community to extend aid to the wife and children of a family in the winter months when it is well known that the husband and father, had he been industrious and sober when labor was in demand, could have provided for those dependent upon him and have done his part toward remedying the present situation. Another deplorable fact which may be mentioned in this connection, is that at the last municipal election in Quincy there were 1060 men who voted to license the sale of intoxicating liquor, and this, too, after a period of twelve years in which the absence of the saloon had resulted in innumerable blessings to all the people. I believe if the truth of the matter could be ascertained, it would be found that nine out of ten of those who are making the most noise about labor are those who would again entail the curse of the Open Dram Shop in Our Midst.

No man in this city has been more liberal with the wage-earners than I have, and more ready to bestow charity to the deserving, but the path of duty is indeed difficult of discernment when the question is considered of aiding a family whose sufferings have been caused by a dissolute father. I have known of many cases where the food, and even the raiment donated, have been taken from the home and pawned for strong drink. Men who lay in a stock of quarters and half barrels of ale every few weeks and then solicit charity, deserve censure rather than substantial help. There are many well-disposed philanthropic persons whose indiscriminate distribution of aims produces incalculable harm. Sympathy must be regulated by good judgement or love's labor will be lost.

There are many among the unemployed who are too indolent to work and their chief aim is to serve as obstructionists to all endeavors in the direction of honorable enterprises, and just so long as such a condition of affairs exists, uncertainty will hinder and demoralize all kinds of business. The tendency of labor reformers is to "kill the goose that lays the golden egg." For years this class have complained that the wealthy citizens were not taxed nearly as much as they should be, and many are the instances in which I have known those who contributed their poll taxes grudgingly for the needs of the city or town, finding fault because the Adamses were not more heavily taxed.

Our Honored Townsman,

Charles Francis Adams, has, I trust, sought a more genial clime where he will be free from such petty jealousies. I desire to remind those who have always endeavored to retard the welfare of our city, that one of its lasting blessings would not have been enjoyed but for the generosity of Mr. Charles Francis Adams in giving to us the beautiful park where the children of the same men who have maligned him can wander at their will.

The city can better afford to lose as citizens a thousand of those who have clamored for an increase in the taxes of the large property holders than to part with one of that ancient and honored family. Charles Francis Adams is a great loss to this municipality and, although I did not always agree with him, I wish that hundreds of such men would settle here to assist in directing the city's business. If the working-men had sacrificed as much proportionately as Mr. Adams has for the interests of Quincy, the present condition of affairs would not have been realized, but in its stead there would be an abounding prosperity among all classes. I wish to clearly state that toward those afflicted by these times, who have manfully played their part, I feel the keenest sympathy and will always join with others in any wise plan to help them, but it is the law of nature that their recovery must be largely their own work.

Quincy Mar. 1, 1894.

SHOP AND RESIDENCE,
Apthorp, Near Billings Road.
NORFOLK DOWNS.

Having reached that point in our business where we can refer with pardonable pride to many of the prominent monuments in the Massachusetts and other cemeteries. We are one of the leading firms of the city directly producing the granite from quarries OWNED, and consequently controlled, by ourselves, and being situated in this favorable position, have a decided advantage over competitors in speedy execution of orders entrusted to us, the guarantee of perfect stock, and in quoting close estimates, consistent with good work. We furnish all the leading granites, in addition to our celebrated Quincy granite, which is no experiment, being the foremost granite to-day (as it has been for the past fifty years) for monumental work. We have in our employ, at our Quincy office, an experienced monumental draughtsman and architect, and under his personal supervision are enabled to submit drawings and plans perfectly proportioned, original in design, and chaste in appearance. We have made a special study of proportion, one of the most essential features of a monument. Giving us an opportunity of competing on your work will cost you nothing, will probably save you money, and above all, give you a satisfactory monument. We have recently added to our already large collection of designs, some new French and German plans, in sarcophagi style. These, with our American collection, make a very complete line from which to form an idea of what you desire. We take pleasure in submitting these plans, by a competent representative, and earnestly request that you examine same before placing your order. Awaiting your commands,

Very Respectfully,

INTRODUCTORY.

Again we are pleased to present, for the consideration of the public and business men, the QUINCY DIRECTORY for 1895, being No. 2 of the series. We have endeavored to compile a book wholly satisfactory to our patrons, our intention being to make it of value and importance to the community, and therefore we trust that whatever slight imperfections it may contain will be kindly overlooked, in the hope of the attainment of perfection in the future.

The numerous changes in the different localities, for the past year, seem to indicate a universal necessity for the yearly issue of the Directory, and all should obtain a copy, in order to keep pace with the march of progress in the district.

The Directory presents its usual familiar features, and we shall constantly endeavor, regardless of trouble or expense, to maintain a high standard of excellence in its publication, commensurate with the importance of the Granite City in the business world; and we hope for more liberal patronage of the business men and others in order to enable us to accomplish our purpose.
